

Nova Scotia Teachers Union

ViewFinders: International Film Festival for Youth and the Nova Scotia Teachers Union are pleased to present a March Break Camp where public high school students will be mentored by top Nova Scotia industry professionals while they team up to create three 30-second public service announcements that answer the question "How do teachers make a difference?"

The NSTU and ViewFinders is seeking participation from NSTU members for the camp. We are looking for up to six individuals in total who would participate in either the Story Development phase (March 15 and 16) or the Production phase (March 17, 18 and 19). We are also seeking representation from teachers around the province.

Expenses, including accommodations, meals etc. will be covered as per NSTU expense guidelines.

WHO SHOULD APPLY?

- Are you currently teaching a film/video curriculum and/or new to a curriculum containing film and video?
- Are you interested in story development/script writing?
- Do you have an interest in video production?
- Are you willing to give up part of your March Break to participate?

Deadline to Apply: 12 pm, Friday, February 12, 2010

REGISTRATION DETAILS

CAMP DATES: March 15 - 19, 2010

CAMP TIMES: 10:00am - 3:00pm daily

LOCATION: CBC Radio Room, 1599 South Park Street, Halifax, NS

The camp will provide an opportunity to share stories, thoughts, ideas, and then learn how to make them come together on-screen. Students will have the opportunity to learn the fundamentals of video production, sound design, and marketing communications.

This camp is open to Nova Scotian high school students attending public school and no previous experience is needed.

An application for interested students is available at www.atlanticfilm.com/view
